Design Quality

Creating architecture that improves people's lives.

WE ARE EPHRON CONSULTANTS

Our commitment at Ephron Consultants to design quality and spaces that work is matched by our design integrity, culture and attention to detail. Our architecture is about how people experience spaces and places and how such places affect them.

Our work reconnects people with their environment through the careful manipulation of the sensual qualities of light, material and space as well as consideration of the cultural fabric that very much connects the targeted end user with their cultural tenets imbibed in a contemporary present. We create spaces that attempt to bring out a timeless identity within the expression of contemporary life to deliver resplendent end product to match our client's imaginations

SUSTAINABILITY

Opening Statement: We believe that sustainability in its broadest sense- Environmental, Socio- Cultural and Economic- needs to be at the heart of all our design work in order to create exceptional projects. We work closely with clients and the design team to ensure that all these aspects of sustainability are considered throughout the brief and programme development, from low energy design, to water use, materials, construction, inclusivity and the 's' of sustainable buildings socially successful. For us at EPHRON, sustainable design is synonymous with good design, and is never considered as a separate add-on.

Social Sustainability

Meeting the needs of a cohesive society We define social sustainability as being about people's quality of life in their immediate and broader contexts. Social sustainability is considered through every aspect of our design, we consider the spatial planning, character, adaptability and amenities of the places we are creating, and the safety and wellbeing of occupants and users.

Economic Sustainability

Securing long term economic viability Our focus on high quality environments seeks to create places which continue to generate value for our clients over their entire lifetime.

Environmental Sustainability

We design the form and organisation of our buildings to produce a sustainability strategy that maximises both the location, orientation and massing of the building to its greatest effect using sources of natural ventilation and daylight. As far as possible we aim to develop passive solutions, which are fully integrated into the architectural design and which are cost-effective and easy for the users to operate. In the words of the renowned Australian architect Glenn Murcutt, we endeavour to touch the earth lightly.
